Policy Proposal 2002 - 8
Privatizing POC Information

Proposal: ARIN's new database allows an organization to designate several points of contact for their organization and resource records. Available types of POCs are Admin, Technical, Abuse, and NOC. If an organization designates several POCs for the management of their organization or resource records in the ARIN database, they are made available via ARIN WHOIS. In order for a point of contact to conduct resource administration for a given resource record in the ARIN database, that POC does have to be associated with the resource record in the ARIN database, and therefore is listed in ARIN WHOIS. It is proposed organizations be able to designate certain points of contact as hidden from ARIN WHOIS, with the exception that, at the minimum, one point of contact be viewable.
